

Royal Group Launches OPUS Patio Door Series

WOODBIDGE, ONTARIO (May 26, 2011) – Royal Window and Door Profiles, a division of Royal Group, continues to lead the way in patio door innovation with the introduction of a new, premium design patio door, the ROYAL OPUS Patio Door Series.

“This new patio door achieved some of the highest performance results within our complete product line of doors and it exceeds the most stringent energy-efficient standards,” said Mark Fanelli, vice president and general manager, Royal Window and Door Profiles. “The new triple glazing option offers our customers a better opportunity to meet the new demands for energy efficiency across all of North America.”

The ROYAL OPUS Series, which was announced at the International Builders’ Show in January, has been specifically developed to provide high levels of comfort and durability.

Incorporating a durable and heavy-duty all-vinyl frame that can be used with two different sash systems, “The ROYAL OPUS Patio Door Series is the perfect choice for replacement and new construction projects,” Fanelli said.

OPUS I utilizes the same sash system as Royal’s popular Performer patio door with standard features that include a new decorative handle, a single mortise lock, a 10-degree sloped sill, a 1-inch thick glazing channel, and Royal’s new Super Quiet roller that will provide years of flawless gliding action.

OPUS II adds a different dimension and offering to the OPUS series program. This door system utilizes an all-vinyl welded sash system that can accommodate a standard 1-inch glass thickness or two true triple glazing options of 1 ¼-inch and 1 ⅜-inch for extreme weather conditions as well as to achieve the R5 criteria.

“The ROYAL OPUS Patio Door Series is a star in an exceptional year of innovation at Royal Group,” said Mark Orcutt, executive vice president of Building Products. “This new, innovative door takes another step forward for Royal Window and Door Profiles in delivering products to our customers that truly bring them innovation and performance.”

The ROYAL OPUS Patio Door Series comes with a wide array of upgradeable options such as a twin-point locking hardware, the Euro Series handle and a variety of colors and finishes to suit any décor.

The ROYAL OPUS Patio Door Series is now available through Royal’s company-owned distribution and fabrication centers in Montréal and Woodbridge, Ontario.
